

Relationships that Transform...

We like to think that we are a little different here.. but in a good way!

Authentic, genuine friends are getting harder to find, but there's something unique about this place that has people saying it "feels like home".

We have a heart and a desire to see God transform not only in our own lives, but our church and our community. Sydney is a big place, and we're just trying to make it feel a little smaller.

Here at Northside, it is these things we value and treasure.

It's who we are...

If you are looking for somewhere to meet new people and just share life with, then we have groups all across Sydney. They form the very heart and the sense of family here at Northside, whilst also providing a place where we can grow spiritually, in our knowledge of God's word (the bible) and closer to each other.

If you've got the chance, try us out at 6PM on Sundays. There'll be someone at the door to point you in the right direction and I'm sure you'll feel right at home!

Hope to see you soon!
